Botox in dentistry

AT WILLOW DENTAL CARE

Botox is used to help relax muscles in the face and jaw providing both aesthetic enhancement and functional relief.

What Is Botox?

Botox is a purified protein that helps relax muscles by blocking nerve signals that cause muscle contraction.

In dentistry, Botox is used for both:

- ✓ Therapeutic relief
- ✓ Cosmetic enhancement

Therapeutic Benefits

- TMJ Disorders (TMD): Relaxes jaw muscles to alleviate pain, spasms, and jaw locking associated with temporomandibular joint issues.
- Bruxism (Teeth Grinding/Clenching): Reduces the force and frequency of clenching, preventing tooth wear, chips, and jaw pain.
- Headaches & Migraines: Eases tension in muscles that contribute to chronic tension headaches and migraines linked to dental problems.
- Muscle Spasms: Treats oromandibular dystonia (involuntary jaw muscle contractions).

Cosmetic Enhancement

- Gummy Smile Reduction: Relaxes muscles that lift the upper lip, showing less gum tissue.
- Lip Position & Fullness: Can subtly adjust lip position, creating a fuller, more defined look or improving symmetry.
- Perioral Wrinkles: Smooths fine lines and wrinkles around the mouth (smoker's lines).
- Facial Symmetry: Improves overall facial balance, complementing other cosmetic dental work.
